

English Guided Tour - 6 hours model plan

Place to visit: Arimatsu-shuku and ①Shiratori Garden and Atsuta Shrine or

②The Toyota Commemorative Museum of Industry and Technology (Either ① or ②)

Recommended schedules: 10:00-16:00

Example	10:00 Meet with guide at Nagoya Station (or hotel) and take subway 10:40 Visit Arimatsu-Shuku [90 mins] Take subway and have lunch [50 mins] 14:00 Visit Atsuta Shrine and take a walk to Shiratori Garden [90 mins] 16:00 Take subway and end tour at Nagoya Station
*Note	Transportation is not included in this tour. (Estimated fare: 900 JPY/person) Fares, admission fees and lunch are at your own expense. Please cover guide's fare/fee/lunch. We can arrange private car. Please ask us the price in advance.

☆ Arimatsu-Shuku

Arimatsu village was founded by an Owari feudal clan's official decree issued in 1608 and was located between Chiryu-Shuku and Narumi-Shuku (Narumi-Post town) on the Old Tokai-Do Highway. Arimatsu Tie-dyeing has been famous and popular since the Edo Period. As Arimatsu village thrived, many well-respected merchant families became established here. You can enjoy looking at those wealthy merchants' houses which still exist along the Old Tokai-Do Road.

- Open hour : 9:30-16:30 (Close on Wednesday)
- Tie-Dyeing Museum Ticket : 300 JPY

☆ Shiratori Garden

The Shiratori Garden is a Japanese-style garden with a path running along the banks of streams and ponds. The area of the garden is approximately 3.7 hectares. In the center of the garden lies the Seiutei, a complex of tea ceremony rooms.

Seiutei was designed after the image of a swan, or "shiratori", flying down to rest its wings.

- Open hour : 9:00-17:00 (Close on Monday)
- Ticket : 300 JPY (age under 14 for free)

☆ Toyota Commemorative Museum of Industry and Technology

The museum is to systematically introduce the history of Japan's manufacturing technology to those responsible for future development. The museum exhibits textile machinery, one of the core industries that have supported the construction of modern Japan, and an evolving world of automotive engineering that continues to promote the development of the country.

- Open hour : 9:30-17:00 (Close on Monday)
- Ticket : 500 JPY

